Announcement Extraordinary!

CLINEDINST, The Celebrated Baltimore Photographer.

Having fully tested the merits of the latest Paris Instantaneous Process and finding it far exceeding in elegance of results any of the old methods of making sittings, has decided to make a specialty of this new and great improvement in photography.

Having a member of our establishment now in Paris, we can assure our patrons that we will be the first to give them all that is new and fashionable in our art.

Our productions for some time have been made by this 'New Paris Process', and has given such universal satisfaction that we have decided for the purpose of introducing it at once to furnish (for a limited time) our artistic and exquisitely finished.

CABINETS AT $3.00 PER DOZ. Although we furnish our fine Cabinets at such extremely LOW PRICES, we will devote the same careful attention as we have done before.

Our Studio is the most complete and extensive establishment in the city with skilled operators and the best artistic talent employed in every department. The liberal patronage bestowed upon this house since our removal here affords us ample evidence and sufficient encouragement to still continue in our endeavors to merit the approval of an appreciative public.

CLINEDINST'S PHOTOGRAPHIC STUDIO,
477 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D. C.

Among the advantages resulting to the public by our adopting the Paris Process are: That the sittings will be a pleasure instead of an ordeal; there will be no tedious waiting; no unpleasant odor from Ether, Collodion, or Chemicals; nervous people can sit without feeling annoyed; those who have weak eyes, light eyes or in any way difficult eyes to secure in a Photograph, are, with this process, assured of satisfactory results. The busy merchant and parties in office who cannot spare time, only early in the morning or late in the afternoon can now come and have sittings made at a time when it could not be secured by the old method. The lightning rapidity with which the exposures have to be made secures perfectly natural expressions. Babies can be brought to the Studio without any fear of a failure in getting perfect pictures. Cloudy weather is good as clear. Children's pictures are now secured with absolute certainty. Call and see the beautiful display of work.

LADIES' DEPARTMENT.

Fashion Notes.

The coiffure remains close and low. Small jet buckles fasten many cor-sages.

Heavy repped ottoman velvet ribbons are much in use.

Walking suits of velveteen are rivaling plush costumes in popular favor.

Black velvet bonnets garnished with white are unpretending and pleasing.

Angora cloth, trimmed in applique velvet, makes a rich and admirable suit.

The large bonnets are worn higher than ever, but remain reasonable in width.

Black velveteen is the favorite walking suit of the dressy New York woman.

The newest linen collars are standing clerical bands with a finely embroidered edge.

It takes an artist to place a bird or bird's crest effectively on a lady's hat or bonnet.

Shirts, when made of velvet or cloth, plush or velveteen, need not be trimmed at the bottom.

Mahogany continues a good shade, and the color of blush roses combines prettily with it.

For rustic dresses the skirt must be plain, kilt-pleated, and reach only to the ankles.

Leather straps passing through buckles of the same, are fastening many woolen walking suits.

Gold, silver, and chenille cords are braided in with the camel's hair brands of the new bonnets for Paris.

Fawn-colored silk stockings, worn with slippers of dark red kid or velvet, are the affectation of the moment in New York.

Prim ruffs are much worn. They are very high and are fastened behind. The upper one is high enough for the dimpled chin to rest upon.

Inside frills for the neck and wrist, of dresses are three narrow rows of white crepe lisse in sharpened scollops overcast on the edges in button-hole stitches.

Handsome redingotes are left open from the waist all the way down the front and back. The sleeves of these garments are perfectly plain, and are tight-fitting without cuffs.

Light silks of pale sea-green, delicate pink and lilac are combined, for evening wear, with dark garnet, dark blue, brown and royal purple velvets, with admirable effect.

The elegant simplicity of street costumes becomes more noticeable each day, elaborations in dress garnitures being left for home wear and full-dress occasions.

There is, unfortunately, no happy medium in the fashionable fan. It is either extremely large or extremely small. In the latter case, it is usually of tortoise-shell, point lace or amber.

Buttons are quite an important feature of cheap and effective home decorations. Ordinary pearl buttons are those employed, and when sewn upon rich-colored velvets or plush, in fancy or geometrical designs, the result is very good.

Plush is now very much used with everything to combine with other materials for costumes, and even for pelisses and demi-pelisses, as well as for Watteau garments, fringed with chenille.

News and Notes for Women.

Women physicians have been refused permission to practice in Austria.

A girl employed as a spinner in a Lowell mill has taken the first prize offered by the Boston Musical Society for the best criticism of vocal and instrumental music.

Miss M. C. Thomas, of Baltimore, Md., has won at the University of Zurich the degree of doctor of philosophy, "summa cum laude," the highest honor ever granted there.

A woman's mutual insurance and accident company is one of the latest institutions in New York. It is designed to benefit sewing women and servant girls.

The flower mania took an acute form with a Philadelphia belle, who appeared at a ball with eight bouquets. She carried two, and the rest were held by a maid, who stood in an alcove and changed posies from time to time with her mistress.

In Como district, Nevada, there is a mining claim which was located several months ago by the Ely sisters, aged sixteen and fourteen, and named the Woodbine and Daffodil. These young ladies, who are personally very attractive, are at work developing their claim, in the value of which they have great confidence.

The total amount annually received or expended on Queen Victoria and the other members of the royal family is $693,382. In this is included maintenance of palaces, expenditure in connection with royal yachts ($35,382); households of deceased sovereigns

(£6,475), and many other such items. It is estimated that about £50,000 per annum would have to be expended were there no royal family to provide for.

She Accepted.

He had a new silk umbrella over his head as he walked up Woodward avenue. It was snowing, and all at once his heart gave a bound as he discovered a female ahead of him without any protection from the storm.

"Ah—ah—excuse me, ah!" he stammered as he reached her side, "but would you accept my umbrella and save your hat?"

"You bet!" she replied as she reached out and took it. "This hat cost $3.50, and as I am out of a place I don't know when I can afford another! Thank ye! I'll consider it a birthday present."—Detroit Free Press.

Bewitched by His Future Bride.

More than one woman has worked in the mines for her living in this country as in the English pits. The Philadelphia Press recently mentioned Mrs. Rignin, of Locust Gap, who hauls coal with a two-horse team to customers. She formerly worked at Excelsior colliery with her husband, and it is related that she could load wagons as quickly and well as her husband. Another notable example of this kind is current among the miners Reliance colliery. Thomas East, now deceased, used for awhile to bring his fourteen-year-old daughter to the mines to help him. She did the best she could until the boss put a stop to it by sending her home. East had a family of girls and proposed to make them useful in the most convenient way to himself. One morning, before the foreman's interference, a miner saw the lass at work. He had not heard of her before, and thinking himself bewitched or the beholder of a vision, he fainted from fright. He lived to regard her presence with less terror, for within a year she walked to the altar with him and became his bride.

Success in Life.

Without unremitting labor, success in life, whatever our occupation, is impossible. A fortune is not made without toil, and money unearned comes to few. The habitual loiterer never brings anything to pass. The young men whom you see lounging about waiting for the weather to change before they go to work, break down before they begin—get stuck before they start. Ability and willingness to labor are the two great conditions of success. It is useless to work an electrical machine in a vacuum, but the air may be full of electricity, and still you can draw no spark until you turn the machine. The beautiful statue may exist in the artist's brain, and it may also be said in a certain sense to exist in the marble block that stands before him, but he must bring both his brains and his hands to bear upon the marble, and work hard and long, in order to produce any practical result. Success also depends in a good measure upon the man's promptness to take advantage of the rise of the tide. A great deal of what we call "luck" is nothing more nor less than this: It is the man who keeps his eyes open, and his hands out of his pockets, that succeeds. "I missed my chance," exclaims the disappointed man, when he sees another catch eagerly at the opportunity. But something more than alertness is needed; we must know how to avail ourselves of the emergency. An elastic temperament, which never seems to recognize the fact of defeat, or forgets it at once and begins the work over again, is very likely to ensure success. Many a great orator has made a terrible break-down in his maiden speech. Many a merchant loses one fortune only to build up another and a larger one. Many an inventor fails in his first efforts, and is at last rewarded with a splendid triumph. Some of the most popular novelists wrote very poor stuff in the beginning. They were learning their trade, and could not expect to turn out first-class work until their apprenticeship is over. One great secret of success is not to become discouraged, but always be ready to try again.

A young man found himself seated at a city hotel table, probably for the first time, and the table girl, desirous of ascertaining the extent to which he, as is often asked, preferred his steak done, propounded the usual question of how do you like it. Of course there wasn't any smiling around that board when the answer was returned with all the simplicity imaginable, "Oh, I like it first rate."

Forty-nine electric light companies, with $81,390,000 capital, were set going in Great Britain last year.

A correspondent of the Nashville American says the South needs 20,000 cooks, and cries out for cooking schools

Uniform Fund

Once more we appeal to our generous friends to assist us in this laudable undertaking by contributions of money, fancy and needle work, manufactured articles, by their presence at the Fair or in any manner they deem best.

Contributions sent to Capt. W. P. Gray, 332 Pennsylvania Avenue; Lieutenant W. H. Smallwood, 113 Fifteenth Street, and Corporal R. H. Byng, 137 E Street, will be thankfully received and receipted for and proper acknowledgment sent to the donors.

A fine orchestra of music will be in attendance.

For the arrangements of all who may attend we have secured the services of several prominent Artists, Vocalists, Elocutionists and others who will, during the Fair, entertain them by choice selections. The voting at the Fair last year gave general satisfaction. At the request of friends we have decided to furnish several handsome articles to be competed for—among them will be a ladies' and gentlemen's gold Watch, Sewing Machine, Handsome Oil Painting, Militia Uniform, Set of Furniture, Cuckoo Clock, China Tea Set and other useful articles. We will endeavor, as we have done in the past, to exert every effort to please and to entertain our patrons. Wayland Hall has been thoroughly repaired and the upper floor has been thrown into one, making a large hall which will be used to promenade in. The prominent organization, both Military and Beneficial, have signified their intention of being present. Come and see us; the "B" will be glad to welcome their friends.
